Notes

- The fares listed for travel on the Vermont show the variety of fares that are in Amtrak's reservation system for the period noted. The higher fares are usually charged for travel during the first 14 days of the 30-day period or when the demand for seats is high on any given train. Even higher fares are possible on the Vermont during peak travel times (e.g., around holidays and school breaks)
- Stations in Connecticut where the Vermont does not stop are not listed.
- Business Class fares for Amtrak's Vermont have been excluded from this table.
